OF LOCAL INTEREST

Mrs. J. E. Worden, Miss Liberty Worden, and Master Homer Worden sailed for Seattle on the Al-Ki Monday afternoon. A large number of friends were at the dock to bid them farewell. It is with extreme regret that Wrangell is giving up these good people who have resided here for the past 20 years. Mr. Worden and Miss Lynn Worden will leave also as soon as Mr. Worden is relieved of his position as postmaster.

Miss Alice Staeger was a passenger on the Princess Alice southbound Friday evening. Miss Staeger spent several weeks in Wrangell the guest of her aunt Mrs. D. A. Griffin. She is a member of the faculty of the public schools at Bellingham. The young lady made a number of friends in Wrangell during her sojourn here.

Messrs. Katzenmeyer and Gin-grass, proprietors of the Wrangell Machine shop, are constructing a small cruiser for themselves, which they will use as a pleasure boat. It is 24 feet in length with a 7½ foot beam. It will be propelled by an 8 h.p. 2-cylinder engine. It has a universal joint in the shaft so that the wheel may be raised or lowered at will, according to the depth of the water.

There was a cutting affray among the colored population at Point Ward Thursday evening. Ben Walton and Sylvester King were both badly slashed. The fighters were brought to town Friday morning and lodged in jail. Frederick Seales who did the carving was given a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Weber Monday, and bound over to await the action of the grand jury.

A. C. Davis who enlisted in Wrangell on July 28 for service on submarine chasers this week received a call to report to Bremerton for further orders. Mr. Davis sailed south on the Spokane Wednesday morning. He is 24 years of age. At the age of 21 he received an honorable discharge from the U. S. navy after four years' service. He is a hardy young man capable of rendering his country valuable service.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schott have received letters from their daughter, Miss Clyde Schott, stating that she and her friend Miss Coulter had a most pleasant journey to San Francisco. Miss Schott is soon to enter the University of California where she will take a special course.

Prof. and Mrs. Virgil O. Strickler of Boston were aboard the Prince Rupert Sunday. They were returning from a tour of Alaska. Prof. Strickler is a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Christian Science church, and delivered a number of lectures during his tour in Alaska. Prof. and Mrs. Strickler visited with Mrs. Matheson while the Rupert was in port.

Wrangell Lodge No. 866, Loyal Order of Moose has passed a resolution exempting any member who enlists for military service for the United States or the entente allies from the payment of dues from the date of enlistment until one year after the close of the war.

J. R. Bender made a business trip to Juneau last week. Louis Lemieux made a manly effort at taking Mr. Bender's place at the St. Michael Trading Co.'s store during his absence.

SCHOOL OPENS FIRST WEEK IN SEPTEMBER

Before long, September 4th to be exact, the call of the school bell will be heard once more in Wrangell and the young people of school age will again take up the pursuit of knowledge. The teachers will arrive within the next few days and the work for the year will be planned ahead as far as possible. The school house is undergoing a thorough renovation. New floors have been laid and painted and the large north room has been partitioned to form two rooms in order to accommodate the fourth teacher and high school department which is an added feature this year. New seats for the extra room and a teacher's desk arrived yesterday.

The course of study for the high school will depend much upon the former work of prospective pupils and their individual preferences. Some studies all pupils are required to take; others are optional. A commercial course which is of great benefit to the average pupil is not an impossibility if there is a demand for it.

Departmental work, will be done to some extent. Miss Dyas, the intermediate teacher, will teach music in the school for twenty minutes each day and drawing several times a week, depending on the time that can be found outside the regular work. Sewing under the supervision of Miss Curtin, the primary teacher, and some manual training, under Miss Carhart, the principal, will round out the week's work. Miss Quast will share the high school and upper grade work with Miss Carhart.

The additional playground which has been acquired recently will prove of great benefit during recreation periods. Educators of the present day place great stress upon the importance of sufficient and properly equipped playgrounds in conjunction with school work. Children learn valuable lessons in leadership co-operation and general deportment during the play-hours.

The Wrangell school board feels that it has secured an excellent teaching corps. The co-operation of parents and pupils is earnestly solicited that the year may be a profitable one. Pupils are requested to enroll promptly on the opening day, if possible, and parents and others are urged to make it a pleasant duty to visit the school-rooms as often as is convenient in order to learn at first hand what work is being done.

St. Philip's Church

Sunday evening August 26. A business man who had suffered much and whose business took him among the helpless submerged ones, once said to a young minister, "The gospel of Jesus Christ is emphatically a gospel of hope." And there is no better illustration of this truth than the parable of the prodigal. This parable has been the plot of many inspirational stories and a source of hope of the millions who have made blunders and are anxious to escape from similar blunders in the future. So this parable will be the theme next Sunday evening. Can you afford to miss the service?

The steamer Afognak of the Alaska Packers' association was in port Tuesday en route to Ketchikan for oil. She had two scows in tow and took on a cargo of more than 100 empty oil drums, which she delivered to the Standard Oil company at Ketchikan.

College Student Must Decide For Himself His Attitude Toward Life

By ARTHUR T. HADLEY, President Yale University

SELF control, intelligence, courtesy and devotion—on these depends the future of the American republic. These are the qualities which we must learn at Yale if our course of study here is to prepare us for the larger duties of citizenship as well as for the narrower ones of our several callings and professions.

© American Press Association.
A. T. HADLEY.

The question whether we take this patriotic and Christian view of college education is one which each man decides for himself. The course of study and the rules of discipline are arranged to help as much as possible toward the right decision.

But no course can be so arranged and no rules can be so framed as to relieve us of individual responsibility in choosing between the narrow view and the wide one.

GOD GRANT THAT EACH ONE OF US MAY MAKE THE RIGHT
CHOICE, SO THAT IN THE TRIAL OF COLLEGE LIFE HE MAY PROVE HIS OWN SELF IN ALL THE ES-SENTIALS OF CHRISTIAN CITI-ZENSHIP AND STAND THE TEST.

Boys Should Be Taught Rudiments of Naval and Land Service

By L. W. IRVING, Head of Junior Marine Scouts

THE junior marine scouts will train boys between the ages of twelve and eighteen in the duties of United States marines. They will be taught practical seamanship, so that if later in life they desire to enter the MERCHANT SER-VICE THEY WILL HAVE A GOOD FOUNDATION IN NAUTICAL LEARNING.

We take as our special plea to others that the training the boys will receive on land and water will be of greater benefit than either land or sea training taken separately. It's a two in one service—both naval and military—and we look to see the idea spread over the entire country within a very short time.

Our motto is "Preparedness" not only of a character that will be valuable in time of war, but that will be equally valuable in time of peace.

WHEN WE HAVE OUR DIFFER-ENT QUARTERS ESTABLISHED WE WILL TEACH THE BOYS HOW TO BECOME BETTER CITIZENS BY INSTRUCTING THEM IN DUTIES
THAT WILL BE WELL WORTH WHILE AT ALL TIMES.

Avoiding the Obvious.
More and more does one meet with the tendency that people have of avoiding the obvious. It becomes little short of criminal to be simple and direct. We know a miss. Let's call her Quiet Charlotte, because she is never quiet. This unusual person was telling us of something she had read which she could not understand. Upon reading it we found that it was quite clear. Said Quiet Charlotte, "I saw that, of course, but I thought that there was something hidden in it or something else."—New York Globe.

GIRLS THEY LEAVE BEHIND

(Pittsburgh Press)

We do not know his name—he did not sign the letter. But on the verge of sailing for "Somewhere in France," the boy wrote and asked us to say a word for the soldiers and sailors who "left their girls behind them," giving a clear field to hang-back rivals.

"I'm not afraid," he said, "We must die somewhere sometime and I'd rather go down under the Stars and Stripes than a falling safe or a joyrider's automobile. Lots of people do every day.

"What held me back from enlisting earlier was a girl I certainly do love an awful lot.

"I asked her to write to me regularly and promise not to get married to anybody while I was away. And she said she liked me too much for that.

"But you know how it is when you are not on hand with the glad talk and the theatre tickets and she doesn't see you for months—they get used to missing you. And I thought if somebody like you would print a little something, suggesting that if every girl whose steady was ready to fight for America, would promise him that she'd pass up the others while he was at the front, it would help thousands of young fellows to make up their minds. I saw an article in the paper which you wrote about 'cuckoos,' meaning doctors and lawyers ornery enough to steal the practice of doctors and lawyers who are away fighting. But I think the worst 'cuckoo' of all is the slacker who snitches a soldier's sweetheart. That's a good name for them, too. Will you please write something that will hit the mark?"

(But after reading his letter, we're sure the boy has done that. So we've printed his letter in the hope that it may catch the eye of all "the girls they left behind.")

RED CROSS WAS READY FOR WAR

Forty-four Base Hospital Units Already Organized.

SOME ARE ALREADY ABROAD

Great Size of These Hospitals Can Be Appreciated When It Is Stated That Regulation Buildings in the Most Compact Form Cover an Area of Eleven Acres.

By LEO ARNSTEIN,

Vice Chairman Military Relief Committee, New York Chapter American Red Cross.

To the general indictment that the American nation was and still is unprepared for war there is one notable exception—the base hospital service of the American Red Cross. When war first broke out in Europe and farsighted men and women saw that this country might ultimately become involved the directors of the Red Cross began to prepare on a large scale for such an emergency. Up and down the land went organizers urging public spirited citizens in cities all over the country to establish units and raise funds for hospital equipment. As this meant in each instance the raising of from $25,000 to $50,000 for something whose usefulness was in the minds of the general public very problematical, the task was no light one.

But the workers persisted. As a result when this country declared war the Red Cross was prepared and has already organized forty-four base hospital units—thirty-nine for the army and five for the navy, which will be ready to be turned over to the government with their equipment as fast as they are asked for. Already seven of these have been sent abroad for the use of the allies, and the balance are ready to go at a day's notice.

The base hospital is housed in a substantial, permanent structure anywhere from twenty-five to a hundred miles away from the fighting line. The wounded are taken from the trenches by stretcher bearers and carried to the dressing stations immediately back of the line. Here they receive emergency dressing and attention and are then carried back to the field hospitals in ambulances. From the field hospitals, as soon as possible, they are carried by ambulance and hospital train back to the base hospitals, where they are surrounded by the best hospital equipment known to modern medical and surgical science. Portable hospital buildings have been devised, so constructed that they can be easily packed and shipped and set up quickly.

The great size of a base hospital can be appreciated when it is stated that the regulation buildings, in its compact form as can be arranged, cover an area 1,000 feet long and 500 feet wide, eleven acres in all. The equipment alone when stored occupies 10,000 cubic feet. The cost of mobilizing a unit with its equipment at Philadelphia recently, aside from transportation, was over $5,000. One base hospital will care for 20,000 men.

The portable kitchen, which feeds 750 persons three times a day, is a new type especially designed for the Red Cross. The portable X ray outfit is even fitted with a generator to provide its own current, as there is never any certainty as to whether direct or alternating current or any adequate current at all will be found already supplied at the point of destination. Then there is the laundry equipment, complete even to a drying room; fumigating, sterilizing and incinerating plants, a completely equipped operating room, laboratory, etc. There is the eight ton refrigerating truck, which is a complete unit in itself, not only producing two tons of ice a day, but running a battery of cooling plants. Connected with each base hospital are three ambulances and a two ton truck for carrying supplies.

The base hospitals are under the direction of the department of the military relief of the Red Cross until mustered into service, when they become a part of the army organization. Forming another very important branch of this department are the ambulance companies. Each company consists of ninety-one men, including five medical officers.

Still another branch of the department of military relief is made up of the hospital units. Each unit is composed of twelve doctors, usually specialists, who may be shifted from point to point wherever the need is greatest.

Aside from this active service in the field, the department maintains a bureau for providing the soldiers with the comforts of life not regularly a part of the government's military supplies, such as extra medical supplies, literature, tobacco and other comforts.

Another important unit is the sanitary training detachment for the methodical teaching of first aid. Groups of men are trained for service with the army, resembling the voluntary aid detachments organized with such success in England.

In short, by its activities in caring for the well being of the soldiers the Red Cross probably doubles the efficiency of the fighting forces.

LAUGHTER.

Spontaneous, happy laughter tells always of goodness, and the man who never laughs must not blame his fellows if they think there is something wrong with his life, something dark within. If the streams which flow out are only bitter the fountains cannot be sweet. Don't crush the laugh in your soul.

Bo Sing, the Chinaman who had his head chopped open at Union Bay one month ago today is now walking about the streets. It is certainly to the credit of Drs. Pigg and Shurick that a man in Sing's condition could be pulled through to recovery. A photograph of Sing's head taken by Mrs. Pigg the day after the tragedy shows his skull to have been chopped open for 7½ inches.

Lizzie Hooker was arraigned before the U. S. Commissioner Friday morning on a charge of vagrancy. She admitted that she was so drunk on Thursday that she did not know when she was taken into custody. She was fined $20 and costs. In default of payment of the fine she was committed to jail for ten days. Several months ago Judge Jennings imposed a jail sentence on Lizzie for adultery.

Will Round Up Slackers

Pursuant to instructions received recently from the Attorney General's office at Washington, Marshal J. M. Tanner, Clerk of the Court J. W. Bell and a representative of the District Attorney's office expect to leave shortly on a trip among the registration precincts of Southeastern Alaska to check up the returns and round up slackers and all those failing to register for the conscription draft. J. M. Tanner is at present in Skagway where he will spend the next few days. On his return the party will leave Juneau.—Ketchikan Miner.

BUREAU OF FISHERIES DISTRIBUTES CANS

(Ketchikan Miner)

Mr. Ernest P. Walker, Commissioner for the Bureau of Fisheries, was informed by wire yesterday that the department had secured from the American Can Company 50,000 cans for distribution among the canneries who may be short of the supply this season. The cans are supposed to reach Ketchikan next Thursday, when Mr. Walker will be ready to start distribution. From the meagre information at hand, Mr. Walker infers that the distribution of these cans will be left to his discretion. For that reason he will have to ascertain in some manner the needs of the party or parties desiring a supply. Although late in the season, said Mr. Walker, the department felt that if it could help the canners with a little supply of cans it would be to the country's benefit.

A cable message from Mr. Walker states that the cans have all been taken.
